Welcome home.

Customers enter a showroom expecting to find just what they're looking for: a solution or several solutions that are suitable for their home, in a place designed to generate the thrills of everyday life. The outfitting plays a fundamental role in this and helps to recreate a real-life atmosphere: customers can thus start to imagine and dream of a different and more beautiful home. These are the assumptions underpinning the styling intervention, whose goal is to propose not just furniture compositions but evocative and exciting spaces, giving the display space even more personality. Every one of us finds inspiration if a space can elicit empathy by integrating moments of life in the display, which convey the taste, but above all the history and personality of the "inhabitants". This explains the fundamental role of a showroom outfitting: to convey the idea of a project that can become a reality. Visiting Febal Casa showrooms is tantamount to enjoying an experience that speaks of quality, innovation and design... that everyone can find in their own Febal Casa home!

The evolution of design

Daniel Libeskind

A Polish-American architect, Daniel Libeskind is an acclaimed international figure on the urban architecture and design scene. Backed by a profound commitment to music, philosophy and literature, his projects aim to create an architecture that is resonant, original and sustainable.

Libeskind established his architecture studio in Berlin, Germany, in 1989 after winning the contest for the construction of the Jewish Museum in Berlin. In February 2003, Studio Libeskind moved its headquarters from Berlin to New York City to supervise the masterplan for the redevelopment of the World Trade Center, which is now under way in Lower Manhattan. The Daniel Libeskind studio is involved in the design and construction of a wide range of urban, cultural and commercial projects all over the world, completing buildings ranging from museums and concert halls to conference centres, university buildings, hotels, shopping centres and residential towers.

In his capacity as Principal Design Architect, Daniel Libeskind is the point of reference for art and architecture related issues in universities and professional summits. His architecture and ideas have been covered by a large number of articles and exhibitions, influencing the field of architecture and the development of cities and culture.

The Febal Casa collection designed by Daniel Libeskind pursues and captures the poetry and strength of light in architecture. In this project, three-dimensional surfaces, light and shadow play on ephemeral shapes and emphasise the textured appeal of each piece.

“The use of light in architecture has a timeless dimension, irrespective of trends and passing fads.”

LIBESKIND022 capsule collection

Daniel Libeskind drew his inspiration from the historical uses of cabinet-making to protect precious objects. The design is minimal and concurrently complex: it changes constantly depending on how the light strikes it, creating dynamic surfaces that integrate with various lifestyles.

The LIBESKIND022 capsule collection by Daniel Libeskind shows off new products, cross-contaminating the CUCINA. collection and the Diciotto and Trenta systems in the GIORNO. collection too. These systems interpret the contemporary living concept, offering impeccably designed storage solutions, characterised by sharp volumes and a geometric pattern with a strong visual impact that blend in seamlessly with the surrounding setting. Available in three different sizes, the Libeskind door applied to the living room compositions offers various customisation possibilities and can be ordered in all the matt lacquered colours of the GIORNO. collection as well as in three new metal skin lacquered colours. What makes this door stand out is its thickness, which integrates perfectly with the doors of the GIORNO. systems and, like a geometric pattern, can be replicated in height without losing continuity. To embellish the living room and dining room, the LIBESKIND022 sideboard, which was introduced in 2022, can be configured in 3 different ways: H. 75 cm in the version with 3 or 4 doors and H. 154 cm in the 2-door version. In addition to being configured with internal panel or glass shelves and with a matt lacquered or stoneware top, the sideboard envisages the possibility of inserting an internal drawer unit with an integrated wooden handle for the H 75 cm version and a bar set-up kit for the H 154 cm version with internal drawer and a practical pull-out top. The partnership with Daniel Libeskind relates perfectly to the Febal Casa world, sharing its design philosophy to guarantee a matching style with all the collections in the range.

Our new TV commercial is on air

Our new TV commercial by Gibbo&Lori, the creative agency that's famous in Italy for its viral Idealista commercials, is on air. The concept for the campaign focuses on the positive vibes that our brand evokes. A Febal Casa home is a place where, even if something goes wrong, people still feel happy and eager to celebrate. The stars of the TV commercial, set in the Febal Casa Flagship Store and in the iconic Housing & Hospitality Division apartment in Milan, are filmed as they tackle some small "daily mishaps": a young man in the living room knocks his little toe into the table, a mum burns the roast in the kitchen and a couple in the bedroom are woken up in the middle of the night by a tiresome mosquito. However, these critical situations, due to the very fact that our stars are living in a Febal Casa furnished home, become an opportunity to have fun to the tune of "Bomba", one of the most successful latest hits, the lyrics having been adapted specifically to these circumstances. This is why the campaign tag line is "The design I want".

The design I want.

We design your home

Your style, in any room.

The apartment in Miami is designed to optimise space and deliver maximum functionality. The colour palette revolves around the concept of total white, with surprising colour contrasts that create unusual focus points while adding personality. The items lead from one setting to the next without realising since the concept of an individual room to furnish no longer exists, but rather a leitmotiv which harmonises the entire home, giving rise to unique and enveloping atmospheres.

When furniture means architecture

Open spaces have proven extremely successful in recent years but which solutions spring to mind if you need to separate the space? The room may simply be too big and you are unsure how to make best use of it or perhaps you'd like to create a welcoming and isolated place to unwind. To help you develop your project, without having to do any architectural work, a partition bookcase could be just what you need. Since it does not require a significant investment, it creates light and elegant configurations capable of enhancing the value of any type of home. The bookcase does not compromise that airy feeling achieved in a large space, nor does it have an impact on the light, because it continues to flow freely while still creating the separation you need. What's more, you can exploit the full height and optimise your space with a bewitching item of furniture with a strong style impact.

Bookcases can divide a room for kids, separate the bedroom area from the living area, they can create a corridor, providing a filter between the hall and the rest of the home and even create a passageway from one room to the next.

The applications are truly endless and they can prove useful even in smaller spaces, for instance to divide up the areas in a studio apartment. Bookcases can divide a room for kids, separate the bedroom area from the living area, they can create a corridor, providing a filter between the hall and the rest of the home and even create a passageway from one room to the next. Febal Casa's Trenta bookcase creates a dialogue with its surroundings, giving rise to rooms which can also be accessed through veritable passageway compartments.

In addition, it can be configured for several uses, including watching TV, thanks to the swivel TV stand or the element which houses a convenient smart working station which really does come in handy.

Service Create your cabinets? bespoke space

Once upon a time there was a lonely washing machine. Today, it can be built into 100 cm high cabinets and covered with a new worktop.

The laundry is a room in the home which requires special consideration, not just in terms of style, but practicality too. Washing, and ironing, are everyday activities that require time and space. That's why it is essential that you consider how to organise this space properly to make it more agreeable. The furniture in your laundry room depends on the surfaces at your disposal and, therefore, on where you set it up. Whether you have an entire room, a hallway, a cupboard under the stairs, a corridor or an alcove in the bathroom, Febal Casa offers modular space-saving solutions that adapt to all needs and any architecture.

Design has no limits thanks to Febal Casa furniture systems. The Infinity bookcase can divide up a room and create new “rooms within a room”.

You can consider several compositions and elements such as overhead structures, base units and tall units, wardrobes, bookcases and then accessorise them with the necessary tools to keep everything neat and tidy at all times. Not only can service cabinets be customised thanks to the extensive range of plain colours, they are also available in textured finishes and wood finishes such as Eucalipto, Noce naturale, Rovere white and many others in order to accommodate all styles and create settings that stand out from the crowd. Among the various solutions offered, you can fit the washing machine and tumble-drier inside a cabinet which can be configured according to your preferences to obtain an extra worktop, or you could opt for making the most of the height of the room and choose a high cabinet where you can stack the two appliances and fit shelves and create space to organise your brooms, vacuum cleaner and ironing board. Every home grows, changes appearance and adapts to the ever-new needs of everyday life; Febal Casa collections are devised to transform the various spaces in a home into multi-functional, personal settings capable of interacting with the home space.

With the new deeper service cabinets packed with accessories, functional settings can be optimised with style.

If the surface is limited, simply look up. The three service cabinet heights help make the most of every centimetre.
