DISCOVER A VILLA WHERE EVERY DETAIL HAS ITS OWN MOMENT OF MAGIC.

This Christmas, Febal Casa's interiors transform into emotional scenography, where architecture, design, and evocative atmospheres reveal our way of experiencing the season: more intimate, more elegant, more authentic.

Enchanting,
precious,
and elegant

Where Design meets Magic

A contemporary villa where architecture and furnishings converse in perfect harmony. Large windows welcome the winter light and reveal a quiet landscape, where soft snow blankets the garden, turning it into a luminous, muffled tableau. Inside, warm-toned materials transform the space into an intimate refuge, where warmth becomes atmosphere. Here, the magic of Christmas doesn't merely decorate: it permeates, illuminating every room with a new, gentle glow.

Details that Illuminate the Space

An Origina system kitchen where the neutral tones of Grigio Caldo lacquer blend seamlessly with the vibrancy of Verde Vintage, in authentic harmony.

Within this setting, small festive details that bring warmth, transforming the kitchen into a welcoming, familiar space - perfect for sharing the most genuine moments of the season.

Ideal for minimalist environments with a clean, refined design, the pocket doors conceal the operational areas, creating an orderly and enveloping effect.

The island hob encourages interaction with family and guests, further elevated by the Disk circular peninsula, which invites the convivial spirit of the festive season. The curved Sinua side panels and the island's rounded corners shape a fluid, welcoming environment - perfect for experiencing the kitchen even during the holidays.

Five Tips for the Perfect Christmas Mise en Place

During the brightest time of the year, the table becomes the true heart of the home: a place of gathering, anticipation, and shared beauty.

Here are five tips to create a mise en place capable of transforming Christmas into a true experience of style.

1. Choose a sophisticated, cohesive palette

The most elegant Christmas tables are often built on soft, luminous palettes, such as ivory, champagne, and subtle gold or bronze accents. For a contemporary effect, pair natural materials with refined finishes: the contrast enhances warmth and makes the table instantly scenographic.

2. Highlight the tabletop

Wood, supermarble, glossy glass, or natural stone - whatever the material, the surface must dialogue with the mise en place. Let the tabletop remain the protagonist by using slim runners or lightweight textiles that frame it without covering it. A simple gesture that adds breathing room and reveals the true quality of the furniture.

Mix textures and materials

The ideal table is never monotonous: it's a harmonious composition of surfaces that enhance one another. Choose lightly transparent glassware, satin or matte plates, and clean-lined cutlery for a sophisticated, contemporary look.

Create a centerpiece with character

A centerpiece should do more than decorate: it should evoke an atmosphere. Play with different heights and natural materials - candles, green branches, metallic elements, glass. The goal is to add visual depth and festive richness without overwhelming the setting.

5.

Shape the atmosphere with scent and sound

A gentle fragrance - pine, delicate spices, citrus - and soft music help create an enveloping, refined ambiance. A mise en place isn't only visual: it's a multisensory experience.

The perfect Christmas table is the one that tells your story:
curated details that become atmosphere, a small world ready to welcome the people you love.

The Holiday Table at its finest

The dining room is the place of togetherness - the heart of the most cherished celebrations. The Phoenix table, extendable up to twelve seats, pairs Nero polished glass with a Ottone scuro metal structure, creating a striking design scenography. The Dea chairs, softly contoured, complete an intimate and refined setting where every seat becomes an invitation to embrace the true warmth of the season.

Curling up in the Warmth, with Winter framing the window

The living room becomes an exceptionally cozy retreat, perfect for watching Christmas movies on the sofa, wrapped in the luminous reflections created by refined festive accents. A space designed for the most genuine moments of the season: stories shared, embraces exchanged, and pure relaxation. Here, wardrobe modules integrate seamlessly with boiserie panels and suspended bases, blending aesthetics and functionality into a composition that brings warmth and visual continuity to the environment.

The Camden sofa combines the charm of classic design with a timeless elegance.

Crafted from fine materials and finished with exceptional artisanal workmanship, it is designed to endure and to elevate any space it inhabits.

Its soft lines and graceful curvature offer an authentic, refined comfort. Positioned beside the suspended fireplace, it creates an intimate, enveloping atmosphere - an ideal place to pause and unwind during the festive season.

The synergy between systems gives rise to long, scenographic walls where different functions coexist in natural harmony, enriching the environment through perfectly integrated accessories and equipment.

Among these, the winery becomes a true centerpiece during the festive season: a touch of elegance that safeguards fine bottles and makes every toast with family and friends even more special.

Wardrobes equipped with bi-fold doors evolve from a simple functional solution into a true architectural element: they create passages between rooms and help define the home's overall design, guiding movement through the spaces with natural ease.

An Atmosphere that Envelops and Speaks

The master bedroom glows with a quiet beauty, shaped by soft materials and warm lights that converse with the winter beyond the large windows. The Jacques bed, the true protagonist, invites you to slow down and experience the most intimate side of the season. Delicate Christmas nuances gently transform the room into a secluded retreat - a place to rediscover harmony, well-being, and a new sense of comfort.

The wardrobe with a back panel finished in boiserie - serving as the support for the bed - becomes a monolithic element that acts as a true dividing block between spaces.

This solution creates harmonious transition areas and allows the environments to be defined through the thoughtful use of furniture, integrating naturally into the home's architectural language.

A Daily Ritual that becomes Wonder

The Hype walk-in closet, with its compartments and doors tracing a harmonious rhythm of solids and voids, shapes balanced spaces that enhance the proportions of the room. During the festive season, this place becomes even more special: here, the ritual of dressing takes form amid precious fabrics, warm lights, and delicate golden accents that enrich the atmosphere. An intimate, personal moment that brings the magic of Christmas to life even before stepping beyond the room.

The walk-in closet Hype is defined by the central presence of the Square drawer unit, distinguished by a design conceived to maximize comfort.

The seating element, available in both end and central configurations, adds versatility and practicality to the space. The Inca faux-leather tidy tray is crafted to accompany every daily gesture with elegance and functionality, making the user experience even more refined.

A villa where every space seems to hold a fragment of enchantment

In this hushed, muffled silence, Christmas takes on a new meaning - shaped by small lights, gentle gestures, and atmospheres that linger.

Happy Holidays!
